

FUEL SAVING ENGINE DRIVEN WELD- ING-TYPE DEVICE AND METHOD OF USE

Abstract

The present invention is directed to a welding-type power source that includes a power source housing and an engine arranged in the power source housing to supply electrical power. An energy storage device is included that is in rechargeable association with the internal combustion engine and arranged to provide welding-type power for at least a given period.